MINISTRY & LIFE PERSPECTIVES

From safari.....

After several years of watching his wife cut off the end of the ham before baking it, he finally asked her why. She responded that her mother always cut off the end of the ham, and that was the way it was supposed to be.

Not accepting "the way it was supposed to be," the husband called his mother-in-law and asked why she cut off the end of the ham before baking. The response was that her mother cut off the end of the ham.

More curious than ever, the husband called grandma and asked her why she cut off the end of the ham. The answer was that she had a small pan, and that was the only way to get the ham to fit.

Today's Gospel invites us to examine ritual behavior. Ritual patterns enable us to enter more deeply into an event because we don't have to devote much mental energy to figure out what is next. The ritual pattern of the Mass helps us enter profoundly into the mystery of God's love for us, as we can listen closely to the word of God spoken and in the silence of our hearts.

Yet, ritual action can become more important than the message the ritual is meant to express. "You disregard God's commandment but cling to human tradition," Jesus complains to the scribes and Pharisees.

I have heard many a comment on over attachment to human tradition by other priests and liturgists. They will speak about the liturgical police, who are ready to report a deviation from the rubrics. On the other hand, they encounter the chant, "we've never done it that way before."

This over attachment to traditional ways of acting or speaking, can reveal an attachment to personal comfort and an unwillingness to be stretched spiritually. Even as priest, I need to be aware of letting my personal comfort of ritual block other practices that can add meaning to the liturgy for others and of God speaking to my heart.

While well intentioned, the commenter seeking liturgical correctness, can miss God speaking in their heart and the full praise that God is due. The gospel reminds us that ritual can guide us in holiness, but authentic holiness comes from within. Believers cannot remain true in holiness if we allow our piety to devolve into empty external ritual. To guard against this emptiness, we require a daily reconnection with God, with the truth of the word, and with others, whose needs, struggles and sorrows should keep us honest in our striving for wholeness and holiness.

How is God stretching your heart?

Have a blessed week, Fr. Ron.

STEWARDSHIP

Stewardship as a lifestyle - Formation is one of 4 pillars of Stewardship

Jude 1.20-21 But you, beloved, build yourselves up in your most holy faith; pray in the holy Spirit. Keep yourselves in the love of God and wait for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ that leads to eternal life. How it works for me:

My conversations with my kids often brings up frustrations and worries typical to friends, future goals, and present conflicts. These verses in the book of Jude are basically what I continue to say even though 'my kids' are now parents.

"God loves you. Pray about everything. Watch and wait for Jesus. Live a life knowing it leads to eternal life with God. - love mom"

BANNS OF MARRIAGE

III Michael Kampa & Alison Lightfield (SS)

A Stewardship Story . . . let's think about stewardship in the terms of "how do I spend the time, talents and treasures God has gifted to me?" At Sacred Heart the set-up for the parish festival began on Monday morning. The youth group leadership team was able to reach out to the youth that they have worked with in the past to request help. There were 28 students at the church on a Monday morning at 9am to work. A number of adult leaders were also there. The festival workers were all VERY pleased with the turnout from the youth. A worker from an outside company that was doing work at the church on Monday and Tuesday went out of his way to ask questions about what was going on and what we did to get so many youth involved. Thank you to those youth who gave of their time and efforts that day. Thank you to the adults who practiced stewardship of their time and talents for this event as well as leaders for the youth throughout the year. That Monday a heavy workload was made light when there were many people sharing their time and talents.

(we invite you to submit a story of stewardship for future publication)

FESTIVAL NEWS

Thank You!

The mission statement of Sacred Heart Parish reads:

Striving to be a grateful parish following Christ by loving God, and loving our neighbors as ourselves through our words, deeds, and thoughts.

These are our ideals, and you make that striving visible in so many ways in your prayer, your kindness, your service in your families and our community.

The gratitude and love for God and the Lord's people was displayed with remarkable clarity in the 2021 Parish Festival. It was such a joy to see folks together again after all these COVID months.

It was not only the welcoming and smiling faces and the community we experienced together that day, but also the countless hours of preparation behind the scenes that make a powerful witness to living out these ideals.

As you know, among our ACC goals are stewardship, evangelization, and engaging our younger members in meaningful ways. All of these came alive this past week as more than concepts, but a present and growing reality.

Thanks to the many donors whose generosity blessed us. Thanks to those who volunteered their time, labor, and hospitality to be of service to one another. Thanks to Steve Hovanes and all the committee chairs who began months ago to bring all this together. And thanks to all of you who supported Sacred Heart by your contributions and your presence to celebrate the life of the Spirit alive among us.

More information with financial results will be coming. As grateful as we are for those gifts that help us accomplish our mission throughout the year, we are grateful above all for your presence, for together, we make up part of the Body of Christ, devoted to loving God and our neighbors in words, deeds, and thoughts.
